CHOOSING YOUR FREESTANDING BATHTUB

Freestanding bathtubs are an increasingly popular design and self-care feature homeowners are adding to their bathrooms. Traditional to modern – freestanding bathtubs add drama and a focal point to the bathroom.

Choosing the right style

When it comes to choosing a decor focal point of a room, try to make choices that are authentic to your personal style.

That way, you will invest in a sofa, flooring or freestanding bath you will love for the long-term. With quality pieces, accessories and colour will go a long way to help you evolve the aesthetic of a room as trends change. Pinterest®, Houzz® and Instagram® are full of inspiration to help you learn how to become a mix-master of style. Many people like to group décor styles into one of three categories: traditional, transitional and modern. The examples below will help guide you through your bathroom design journey.

One-piece or two-piece?

One-piece freestanding baths, formed from one continuous piece of acrylic, offer a more streamlined aesthetic.

Two-piece freestanding bathtubs provide a more installation-friendly experience when installing a deck mounted tub filler. You can also pair one and two-piece freestanding baths with wall-mount and floor-mounted tub fillers.

Of course, the faucet fixture shape and finish you pair with your new tub will be one of the biggest impacts on your style direction. See the inside back cover of this brochure to learn which faucet brands and models we paired with our freestanding baths.

Replacing an old alcove or skirted tub

Even if you have limited space or are replacing a standard alcove tub – there are options to install a smaller 59" freestanding bath. You would be amazed how upgrading an alcove tub to a new freestanding bath will elevate the design of the room – and add a touch of luxury.

Space around the bath

Carefully measure the area you want to place the bath. Leave ample room to not only install your plumbing but allow for easy access for maintenance. Many of our freestanding baths come in two sizes: 59" and 67."

Traditional design tends to be curvier and have details

Transitional design has softer, organic curves and less detail

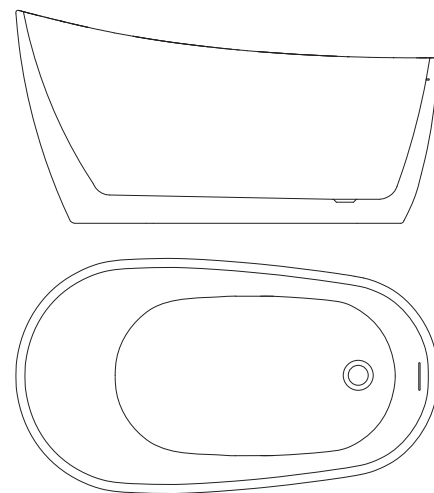

Modern design has clean, simple, and straight lines with no details
